Brainware announces professional services partnership with Xorbix

February 5, 2008, Ashburn, VA — Brainware, Inc., the leading provider of intelligent data capture and enterprise search solutions, has announced today a professional services partnership with Xorbix, an international IT consultancy. The new partner will be performing installation, maintenance and upgrade services for Brainware’s rapidly growing client roster.

“In 2007, Brainware recorded a 500% increase in sales over the previous year,” says Dale Bargar, Vice President of Operations at Brainware. “We are rapidly expanding our presence across industry verticals, and we need partners like Xorbix that have experience working with different businesses and diverse IT environments.”

Xorbix specializes in e-commerce solutions, DMBS solutions, and client server solutions.

“We are thrilled to work with Brainware,” says Asif Bakar, Xorbix President and CEO. “This company has the most advanced data capture technology in the market, and they treat their business partners like an extended team.”
